SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 13.—When Governor Johnson replies to Secretary of State Bryan's request that he veto the Webb alien land owning bill, he will reiterate the right of the California legislature to enact the bill and will refuse to veto it.

This is the opinion expressed today by persons close to the governor, although Johnson himself was reticent.

"There is nothing to give out now; there may be something later in the day," was all he would say when asked about the matter today.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—That a new treaty will be negotiated in the immediate future with Japan which will settle the status of the Nippone in this country was the general belief at the state department today.

No matter what action Governor Johnson takes on the Webb bill, now in his hands, and which he has been asked by President Wilson to veto, it

- Arizona Passes Law
- PHOENIX, Ariz., May 13.—Governor Hunt is expected today to sign immediately the anti-ali-en land owning bill which passed the senate yesterday. It has already passed the house.
- This measure is generally regarded as much more drastic than the California law. It forbids any alien from owning land or leasing it for more than five years unless he has declared his intention of becoming a citizen.
- The upper house is also considering a resolution memorializing the United States senate to abrogate the present Japanese treaty and to draft a new one permitting each state in the union to enact its own alien land owning laws.

was admitted today that the time had arrived when the status of the Japanese must be cleared up and absolutely defined by treaty, in order that a menace to the peace of the nation may be removed.

Have Common Ground

Secretary of State Bryan and Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, have gone far enough in their negotiations to determine that there is a possible common ground upon which they can meet. And the result is likely to be a treaty couched in unmistakable English, which will take the place of the present "gentlemen's agreement."

Despite the fact that a number of statements regarding the contents of the Japanese protests have been made, some of them extremely contradictory, neither the state department, nor the Japanese embassy would make the document public today.

It was admitted that the protest was general in character and that it was intended to bring to a head the entire Japanese question and define legally their standing in this country, but it was denied that it contained a demand that Japanese be declared eligible for naturalization.

Based on Discrimination

The Japanese protest, it was stated by those familiar with the entire situation was based upon feeling that there is an effort, not alone in California, but in other states, to discriminate against the Japanese because of their ineligibility to citizenship.

The protest, it is explained, directs the attention of the president to this discrimination and asks that it be remedied. The only way in which it can be cleared up, it is pointed out by diplomats, is by the negotiations of a new treaty which will deal with the entire matter in specific terms.

STILLWELL DENIES BRIBERY

NEW YORK, May 13.—Senator Stephen J. Stillwell today entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of bribery brought against him in an indictment returned by the grand jury and his trial was set for May 23.

After turning a diamond ring around so that the stone was in the palm of his hand and did not show, Stillwell told the court that he was too poor to employ counsel. Senator McClelland, a member of the committee that acquitted Stillwell when the charges were filed against him in the senate, was then appointed to act as his attorney.

PATTER FRACTURES SKULL

CHIPPewa FALLS, Wis., May 13.—Whitford Loughrea, 13 years old, sustained a fractured skull when a twelve pound shot he was throwing hit him on the head.

"SEPTEMBER MORN" STIRS MR. COMSTOCK

NEW YORK, May 13.—Miss "September Morn" today stepped back unabashed into the window of an art store on 46th street and again disclosed her undraped beauty to the morning sun, despite the protests of Anthony Comstock, New York's moral censor. Comstock had just one look at the picture which caused such a stir in Chicago and he immediately asked the art dealer to remove it. This was done, but "September Morn" was again in place today, and the art dealer made it clear that he expected the picture to remain in the window. Comstock declared that he asked that the picture be removed after a school teacher complained to him that it "might work havoc in the minds of her pupils passing that way."

RACINE, Wis., May 13.—The elopement of Joe Jaggersberger, member of the Case Racing team, and Miss Amanda Olle, daughter of John Olle, president of the Racine Foundry company, was brought to a sudden halt at Waukegan this morning at 1:05 when the two young people were taken in custody by the Waukegan police who received a telegram from the father to lock the youthful elopers up until he could arrive on the scene.

The affair had all the stage settings of an elopement as pictured in popular novels, with the two young people speeding in a high power automobile toward Waukegan, and the irate father and two Racine plain clothes men following behind in another machine. The auto with the father and the two policemen arrived in Waukegan about an hour after the young people, who admitted that they intended to get married but would say nothing of the elopement. With Jaggersberger and the girl leading in an automobile, and the father and the two detectives following close behind in their machine, the party started back from Waukegan at 3:30 this morning.

DAVIS WILL HEAD THE SUPERVISORS

No Opposition to Bangor
Man as Head of County Board; to Organize Tomorrow

That R. W. Davis of Bangor will be re-elected chairman of the county board without opposition is the belief prevalent in the court house today, twenty-four hours before the organization meeting of the new county board.

Eighteen new faces will appear in the supervisors' chamber tomorrow, when the "county dads" get together to hold their organization meeting. Little else is expected to be done tomorrow outside of hearing the reports of a few committees. The most important report is expected to be that of the claims committee.

Officers will be elected for the coming term, and committees will be appointed.

YACHT RACE CERTAIN

NEW YORK, May 13.—Although a definite announcement is not expected until the New York Yacht club holds its special meeting to dispose of the latest challenge of Sir Thomas Lipton for a series of races for the America's cup, it is generally conceded today that a race is certain.

In response to a message inquiring as to the terms which Lipton's last challenge meant to follow, the Royal Ulster club has replied that Sir Thomas wished to race under the same rules that governed the series sailed in 1902. Lipton added, however, that he had no objection if the new rules governing measurement, time allowance and sailing were enforced.

TAFT ABANDONS RIOTS

BEVERLY, Mass., May 13.—Ex-President Taft will spend the summer at Murray Bay, Quebec, on the St. Lawrence river, it was learned today. A friend of Taft's received a letter from him today stating that he has leased a cottage at Murray Bay.

HOME MADE WEEK THE LAST IN MAY

Merchants and Manufacturers Decide that Original Date Is the Best

HAVE CONVENTION AND HOLIDAY

Landingslag adn Decoration Day Come Within Week of May 26; Start
Work at Once

HOME MADE WEEK in La Crosse is an assured fact. It will be the week of May 26, as originally planned. This was the decision of the committees of the merchants and manufacturers which conferred on the subject at the La Crosse club this afternoon.

The merchants were represented by President Ed Dittman of the Retail Merchants' Protective association; N. M. Scott, J. J. Felber and C. A. Krebaum. The manufacturers' committee of the board of trade which originated the project, was composed of A. P. Funk, L. H. Martin, H. J. Hirschheimer, W. R. Montague and C. P. Thompson.

At the meeting of the manufacturers in the city hall last Friday several of the manufacturers did not care to go into such a big proposition on such short notice, but today it was decided that it was not possible to pick a better week than the last week in May for HOME MADE WEEK. There will be a convention—the Landingslag—in La Crosse that week, bringing 500 people from all parts of the northwest, and there is also one holiday—Decoration day.

Therefore the merchants promised their best support, and the secretary of the board of trade was authorized to find out from each manufacturer in the city how much space he will need.

The allotment of display windows will be made by an unprejudiced committee to be named later.

Work on the displays will be begun immediately, as it is the intention of the merchants and manufacturers to make this exhibit the most complete ever held in the city.

John C. Burns, representing the jobbers of the city, was invited to the conference by the manufacturers' committee of the board of trade.

TO MUFFLE CHICAGO

CHICAGO, May 13.—Chicago will make Philadelphia take on the aspects of a noisy, frivolous, gay Paree by contrast if two resolutions, placed in the hands of council committees today, survive the process of smothering. From Alderman Nance came a resolution for an investigation of unnecessary noises. These include the street car gong, the automobile siren and the steamboat whistle. "And while we are about it," suggested "Bathhouse John" Coughlin, who offered a resolution pointing to regulation of women's dress, "let's see if the swish of a silk skirt cannot be classed with the unnecessary noises."

CONSTITUENTS AFTER THOMAS

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Pasted on several letters he received today from Colorado constituents, Senator Thomas of Colorado found big black faced labels with the words: "If you can't be true and loyal to your state and its vital sugar and wool industries don't come back to Colorado." Senator Thomas refused to comment on the pasters except to say he believed indicated a general crusade prompted by the sugar and wool interests in an effort to force him to recede from his support of the free sugar and free wool provisions of the Wilson-Underwood tariff bill.

BRITISH METHODS EXPENSIVE

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The first result of the investigations of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, which is to be the administration's weapon in repelling assaults on the forthcoming tariff law, came today in a report claiming that in Great Britain one-sixth more power and 2½ times as many wage earners are needed to produce a net output of equal value. This report was prepared at the request of Chairman Underwood, of the house ways and means committee, co-author with the president of the tariff bill.

PRUSSIAN OFFICER KILLED

BERLIN, May 13.—The war office this afternoon was notified of the assassination at Munich of Major Von Lewinski, Prussian military attaché to Bavaria, by a supposed lunatic. The assassin, who said his name is Straffer, also killed a lieutenant of police, who ran to the general's assistance when the madman attacked Lewinski in a crowded street.

FIGHTS FEDERAL ROADS

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Opposing the government construction, ownership or operation of Alaskan railroads, F. C. Jemmett, representing bondholders of the Alaska-Northern railroad, today told the senate committee that government ownership of railroads had failed in Canada.

WATCHERS IDLE WHEN CHILD BURNS

NEW YORK, May 13.—Mrs. Thomas Ford, dangerously ill following an operation performed today, does not know of the tragic death of her 3 year old daughter Alice, who was burned to death with a score of persons looking on in horror, but unable to reach the child.

When a Lackawanna train pulled into Harrison, N. J., passengers were horrified to see a little column of smoke and flames on a hillock near the station. It was moving rapidly back and forward and then the form of a child was distinguished. Little Alice's clothing was in flames. A wagon driver, dashed up the hill, carried the child to a hospital, but Alice died soon afterward. The child's mother was in the same hospital awaiting an operation.

PENROSE DEMANDS PUBLIC HEARINGS

THE REPUBLICANS ARE DIVIDED

Not Expected that Progressive Wing Will Follow Lead of Stand-patters

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Whether or not the senate finance committee shall conduct hearings on the tariff bill was the issue of a battle royal scheduled in the senate this afternoon. Before adjournment the question probably will have been forced to a roll call vote. The democrats believe they will vote down any attempt by republican "regulars" to force hearings.

The majority relies upon 49 of its 61 members in the upper house to oppose hearings. Leaders declare that the best service which can be rendered the business world is to get through with the tariff uncertainty at once. They aver that the house bill has the approval of the country in all important particulars and that republican insistence upon hearings is merely a pretext for delay until artificial protest can be raised in order to justify a panic.

Senator Penrose, leading the republican attack, maintains that the business men of the country had no expectation, when the hearings were given by the house committee that the bill would be so drastic as it now appears. He proposes to filibuster against referring the bill to committee until hearings shall have been conceded.

Sharp division of the republican senators as a result of the Chicago conferences of the past few days, however, seemed likely to be reflected in the vote today. Democrats believe that Senators Cummins, Borah, and Kenyon will refuse to follow Senator Penrose's lead in any parliamentary fight. If this proves the case, the tariff measure will go at once to the finance committee for its consideration and within two or three weeks will be reported to the democratic caucus for approval.

By a vote of 48 to 34 the senate this afternoon went into executive session, automatically delay action on the Penrose motion to have tariff hearings and any action on the tariff measure until the next regular meeting.

UNCOVERS ALLEGED GRAFT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 13.—The resolution introduced by Senator Madigan, democrat, calling for an investigation of the employment of members of the legislature by W. H. Stead while attorney general, was today sent to Attorney General Luce by his opinion. The resolution severely criticizes Stead. In a speech today Madigan declared the employment of legislators by a state department as "the worst form of bribery."

The question is whether legislators could legally accept pay from the state in two capacities. The facts in the case are undisputed.

JOHNNY EVERS SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, May 13.—Manager John Evers of the Chicago Cubs, received notice from President Lynch of the National league today that he had been suspended for three days for holding his nose yesterday in indication that one of Umpire Orth's decisions was putrid. Evers will be out of the game for the two remaining games of the Giant series and for the first game with the Phillies. Zimmerman, Cub third sacker, will be in charge of the team in Evers' absence.

COLORED MINISTER TAKES THE STAND

Rev. Henry Alexander
Claims He Is President of Milwaukee School

CREDENTIALS BRANDED FALSE

Bishop Jackson of Milwaukee Repudiates His Signature on the Documents

Accused of obtaining money under false pretenses and admitting that he received the money, large sums of it, but steadfastly maintaining that he is the authorized agent of a bona fide colored divinity and industrial school at Milwaukee, Rev. Henry Alexander took the stand in circuit court today to save himself if possible from the penitentiary.

Had Various Pulpits

Rev. Alexander swore that he at various times filled pulpits in African Methodist churches and that he was collecting for the A. M. E. Zion church of Oshkosh at the time of his arrest in this city. He said that he was a graduate of Marquette law college and had practiced law for four years in Gary, Indiana, but that for the last twelve years he has been president of the Colored Divinity and Industrial school of Milwaukee. He admitted that the school has not existed for several years but asserted that efforts were being made to revive it. It was in this effort, he declared, that he had collected money in all of the cities of Wisconsin. He said that at times the school had as many as 100 pupils.

This statement was contradicted by J. Christianson, a Milwaukee patrolman who had been on the beat where the school was located for twenty-six years. Patrolman Christianson said that he had looked in at the school twice a day and that he never saw more than nine pupils and that the greater part of the time there were not more than two.

Dodges Morality Questions

Attempts to get Christianson to testify as to the moral tone of the school were made by District Attorney D. S. Law but the Milwaukee policeman "didn't know" anything about the character of the place. Attorney Frank Winter for the defense objected to questioning along this line.

Bishop Joseph Jackson, of Milwaukee, said by Alexander to be one of the trustees of the institution, testified that the only school he is connected with is the St. John's A. M. E. orphanage. He denied that he signed the credentials which were carried by Alexander. Under cross examination Alexander admitted that he had signed Bishop Jackson's name himself but with the bishop's permission. Rev. Graves of Milwaukee corroborated the bishop's statements.

Chief of Police John Webber, Detective Joseph McGrath and Patrolman John Wendling told of the arrest of Alexander and his co-workers, Rev. George Claughton, of Oshkosh, and of the account books found on the prisoners. They testified that the books showed collections made in various cities of the state for a period of about twelve years. La Crosse persons were found listed in the books showing their donations which were collected about twice a year during that time. Donations as high as $50 were noted.

Got Money From Gund's

Mr. Karl G. Kurtenacker, secretary of the Gund Brewing company, testified that he had been approached by Rev. Alexander in behalf of the Milwaukee school and that he had handed a check drawn in favor of that institution for $5. Frank Mallin, cashier of the Gund company, said that he had copied the name of the school from Alexander's credentials onto the check.

Several more witnesses will be examined this afternoon, including prominent negroes of Milwaukee and Chicago. It is likely that the case will go to the jury late today or tomorrow morning.

John Kelley was found guilty today of stealing $5 from the pocket of Dick Williams. Williams was robbed while asleep in a chair in the Corcoran hotel. Kelley will be sentenced Saturday.

ASYLUM MAKES MATCHES

CHICAGO, May 13.—The German Evangelical Orphans and Old People's Home at Bensonville was described as a sort of matrimonial bureau by Rev. Julius Kricher, secretary of the home, testifying before the Cuban legislative committee today. "A lot of boys and girls who grow up together at the home fall in love and marry after they leave the home," he said. "A great many of our former inmates are now happily married and are good fathers and mothers."

CREDITORS DISMANTLE HOUSE

RACINE, Wis., May 13.—Thomas B. Keyes, manager of the White House moving picture theater, was arrested last night for using abusive language to his cashier, Mrs. Jessie Hunt, who claims to have put $2,000 into the business, and while he was in jail unable to furnish bail, creditors swooped down on the theater, attached the electric light fixtures and draperies, and the house was closed in consequence.

HAIR-PULLING DUEL STOPPED BY POLICE

A scheduled finish fight which bid fair to outdo even the battles of the English militant suffragettes was stopped by the police in the first round yesterday evening. No decision was rendered. The combatants were Mrs. Sing Lee, wife of the proprietor of a chop suey house on South Third street, and Mrs. Sadie Hayner. Mrs. Lee was the challenger. According to evidence given in police court this morning, Mrs. Hayner is alleged to have issued a deft in the shape of unpleasant epithets. The bout was immediately begun under suspension of the rules of civilized warfare. Hair pulling figured as the leading maneuver of each duelist, and the hair pins were falling thick and fast when a policeman stopped the bout. Both were fined $12.50 by Judge Edward Cronon.

Turkey to Abandon European Territory West of Line Between Enos
and Midia

LONDON, May 13.—The proposed treaty to end the Balkan war, which will be laid before the plenipotentiaries of Turkey and the allies for their consideration when the peace conference is resumed here soon, is in seven sections, it was learned today.

The first article promises lasting friendship between the sultan of Turkey and the kings of Greece, Bulgaria, Montenegro and Servia.

Turkey agrees to abandon all Ottoman territory in Europe west of a line running from Enos on the Aegean to Midia on the Black Sea, except Albania.

The exact frontier lines and the final disposition of Albania are to be left to a commission jointly appointed by the kaiser, the Austrian-Hungarian emperor, the king of England, the president of France and the czar of Russia.

Turkey will yield Crete to Greece and leave to the commission appointed by the powers the disposition of the Ottoman islands in the Aegean and the peninsula of Gallipoli. The sultan leaves to the powers the matter of finance, cash indemnity, and the Ottoman public debt credited against the territory to be ceded.

The last article relates to prisoners of war, arms and ammunition.

ARGUE EKERN CASE IN SUPREME COURT

Comply with Court's Order of April 23 for Re-argument of Controversy

MADISON, Wis., May 13.—Further arguments were made in the Ekerndorf case before the supreme court this afternoon with the order of the court issued April 23. The questions which the court asks to have argued are:

(1.) Does section 370 of the statutes require that due process of law be guaranteed by the constitution, be guaranteed in removing an officer?

(2.) Does due process of law in such a case entitle the officer attempted to be removed to a reasonable notice of the hearing of the particulars of the charge, a reasonable opportunity to be heard in person and by counsel, to know the adverse evidence to be considered, the right to cross examine the opposing witnesses and present all material evidence in his own behalf?

(3.) If an order for the removal of an officer charged in such a proceeding be made without according to him these privileges, is it valid?

(4.) Is it a jurisdictional requirement of an order under the removal statute, that it be based on evidence, taken according to the essentials of due process of law, which, in some reasonable view, sustain the charges against the person accused, which will warrant his removal, and, if so, was such a case made as to Mr. Ekerndorf?

AUTO BILL PASTOR

ATTICA, Kan., May 13.—Rev. Robert Carlisle of the Atlanta Methodist church was crushed to death and his brother and sister, J. A. Carlisle and Ethel of Winfield, were injured this morning, when their automobile struck a sandy spot in the road and overturned, pinning the three beneath the car.

MILK ORDINANCE VALID

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The Milwaukee city ordinance prescribing standards of pure milk was declared valid by the supreme court of the United States yesterday.

The court held that the cities have the right to protect citizens from the "white plague" by ordering that all dairy cows be subjected to the tuberculin test and that municipalities may destroy impure milk.

Justice McKenna delivered the opinion of the court. He did not give from the bench any reason for sustaining the decree of the Wisconsin supreme court, merely announcing its correctness on every question raised.

MAN FOUND SHOT

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 13.—With a bullet wound in his right temple and a loaded revolver lying only a few feet away, the body of Henry Friedlander, 50, said to be wealthy, was found early yesterday by Patrolman Joseph Vermette. It is not known whether the man took his own life or was murdered.

The police and the coroner were notified and Deputy Coroner Charles Hobbs hurried to the scene.

A card in his pocket bore the name of a woman living within a few yards of where the body was found.

EARS DISCREETLY COVERED UP

Only Glimpses of Pretty Pink Lobes Permitted by 1913
Fashions

(By Margaret Mason. Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, May 13.—If you are a low-brow you are bound to be fashionable. A Simian or receding forehead is at a premium these days since the newest hairdressing demands that your frontal bone be retired permanently behind a sheltering hedge of bang, pompadour or side-part. Should the hero in a 1913 best-seller implant a chaste salute on the brow of his fair one, all the sensations of oscillating an ostomoor would be his.

In other words, to dress your hair up to date, you must dress it down to your eye-brows. Just how you do it doesn't matter in the least. If you still cling to the pompadour you are quite welcome provided it is a soft flat, one puffed out at the sides to give a broad effect. The fluffy fringe is becoming to the average countenance and decidedly youthifying, but perhaps the most favored mode is the loosely undulated part piquantly bisecting the cranium well toward the left ear or more sedately choosing the middle course.

Ears Under Cover

Aural appendages also are to be on the retired list this season. Fleeting glimpses of pink lobes peeping from beneath silken tresses will still prove that you have ears, however, and give an earless effect without being eerie. It's a blessing after all to have something under cover these days if it's only a forehead and a couple of ears.

Passing to the rear, you will see that from that position, the latest coiffure, like the cost of living, has a decidedly upward trend. Your tresses are gathered into a loose puff on the apex of your head, wound round with two smooth strands and fastened with large shell pins. Worn high in a bun with a middle part and short bobby curls in front of the ears in the style of 1820 is a quaint departure for evening wear. Indeed, all the period hairdressings are being revived to go with the present craze for the period costume. The Psyche, as usual knotty but nice, nowadays has changed its vantage point from the nape of the neck to the crown.

Jewels Fashionable

Although most of the smart coiffures seem to be doing their best to shove back hair on high, the low coiffure continues the prevailing favorite. It lends itself more obligingly to the present small millinery and also more artistically to the divers hair ornaments now so much in vogue. As if the casting off of all false hair from the 1913 head had necessitated a taking on of a substitute against the chill spring winds, tresses have given way to treasures. Jewelled bangles and pins are stuck into every cranny until your ultra-smart evening coiffure looks like a fully decorated Christmas tree.

If there is a lack of brilliancy inside your little noddle these days there's more than enough outside to make up for the deficiency. There simply is no limit to the ornate hair dressing decorations except in your own originality, creative ability and daring. Jewelled pins beggar description, heavy with barbaric and semi-precious stones or fairlike in the delicate tracery of brilliant set in platinum. There are Oriental fillets set low on the forehead with a single jewel suspended tremulously between the eyebrows, slender gold fillets finished with pert Mercury wings in front, from which spring frail aigrettes and fillets of Greek key design sparkling with rhinestones. Scintillating butterflies and birds holding aipr sprays of osprey; Paradise aigrettes and Numidic plumes breast the hirsute waves and gold and silver tissue turbans wound with strands of pearls swathe demurely twisted braids. Glittering buckles of jet fasten fan-like ornaments of tulle between rippling ondules and bizzarre high back combs top masses of rebellious curls. Thus dazzlingly are the fashions brought to a head.

ly sprinkled with dots of chenille. The chief characteristic of the new veils are the daintiness of the meshes and the delicacy of the designs picked out in a single thread when an all-over effect is desired or in chenille for an elaborate border.

The craze for pleating has at last reached to the accessory of the outdoor costume and not only are knife-pleated borders of piec edge lace attached to unpleated net but actually all-over accordion pleated veils of chiffon are all the rage. For the motor veil this pleating is particularly successful as it will not muss. The automobile veils are usually pleated lengthwise so that when you untie them they will spring back in loose folds round the brim of your bonnet. The veils for street wear are more chic with horizontal folds and more eyes gleam reflectively from behind the pleated bars.

Anyway, the rolling stone never was interested in the moss trust.

Short Story

BEST MAN

By MARTHA McCULLOCH-WILLIAMS

Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
Alida might have been a wood nymph, she passed with feet so light through April shine and shadow, her hands overrunning with pale, frail wild flowers and blue stars of wild flax gemming her yellow hair. She was bareheaded and fine golden freckles powdered her saucy nose. They were no blemish—rather, they gave a richness to her creamy skin and accented the bloom of her cheeks and the cherry red of her smiling lips.

Lightly she leapt the low fence bounding the thin woodland, and began to run through the new grass singing high and clear:

"My people all get mad with me
For keeping my love company.
They may get mad—say what they will—

Upon my honor, I love him still."
"Who is the lucky fellow?" Danby asked, coming from an ambush of thorny thickets.

The thicket masked a sinkhole; otherwise there was nothing to break the spread of grass. Alida made a face at him and went on singing:

"I love my love so well, he knows,
I love the ground whereon he goes;
I love my love with a free good will;
Upon my honor, I love him still."

"Indeed!" from Danby, his eyes twinkling. "Really, Lida, this is kind, but embarrassing. I never dreamed you were so much a victim of my fascinations."

"Dear me! I always feared you were stupid," Alida answered, with a twinkle matching his own. "Otherwise you could not have failed to understand how fatal you would be to a village belle."

"Oh, I say—who told you?" Danby began, scarlet with embarrassment. The girl smiled at him roughly. "I don't need to be told—some things," she said. "Not when my city seventh cousin is at such pains to protect me from myself for—was it three whole hours?"

"No, no!—three minutes at the most!" Danby protested. Then haltingly, "Lida—I—I have wanted to tell you what a chump you made welcome. I—really, how shall I say it?—had misgivings."

"How could you help them?" Lida interrupted, audaciously. "After being so pursued, so chivalry by all sorts of girls, you must have felt yourself irresistible."

"Don't—don't rub it in—there's a good fellow!" Danby entreated. "I admit my idiosyncrasy—and am willing to do penance for it. See if I am not. Set me any task you will—no matter how hard. I shall undertake it gladly—if you promise me forgiveness in reward."

Alida dropped her eyes, but the ghost of her wickedest dimple lurked at the left corner of her mouth as she murmured reflectively:

"Don't you think it would look well—sort of cement the edifice of family pride—if you were to be best man?"

"When? Where? How?" Danby demanded, an anxious inflection strengthening with each query.

Alida looked down, the moral and pattern of maiden shyness as she answered, "Why—at my wedding? Don't you know I am to be married in the fall?"

"Good Lord! No!" Danby cried huskily. Then catching both her hands. "Why wait so long. Listen to my amendment. Marry right off—and let me be—"

"But you are going tomorrow," Alida interrupted.

He shook his head at her, saying: "Be quiet! Let me be, not best man but groom!"

Alida went off into a fit of laughter, elfin, silvery, so genuine it made him wince. He had come full of condescension, to see his distant kinsfolk in Barleigh village, full also of a sense that he must hawk warily so as not to arouse false hopes in the girl he rated a village belle. She had swept him off his feet with the first lift of her long lashed lids—all through the fortnight since they had played the game of lovemaking, much as they might have played a game of chess. Master of it though he was, he had admitted to himself at least a week back, she was his match and more. Much earlier he had told himself she was his predestined mate and match every way—that impossible she, the sum of all perfections in a woman—at least for him.

"Where is the joke?" he asked after a half minute, finding her still gurgling, though she tried to make

"CURED MY BOY OF COUP AND BUILT UP
BOTH THE CHILDREN"—WRITES MOTHER

"I have used two bottles of Father John's medicine and found wonderful results. My children are subject to bronchitis and when they get a cough bronchitis generally follows and then I have to call my doctor. They started with croup and I saw Father John's Medicine advertised and thought I would try it. I gave them the medicine and cured my boy's croup in one night. When I had tried everything else but without success, it cured both of them of the cough and they had no more trouble. I think it is making them strong. I really would not be without Father John's Medicine. I think any one who is troubled with bronchitis and will take Father John's Medicine faithfully will find relief." (Signed) Mrs. E. Imhof, 221 Bentalon Street, Baltimore, Md.

her riotous lips demure.

"I can't tell you—if you don't see it," she flung back at him—then with another silvery peal: "I wish you saw yourself—men are awkward enough saying such things, when they mean them—and seasonably so. But when the things are merely part of the game—"

"Stop!" Danby said low and deep. "This is not 'part of the game.' You know what I feel—what I mean."

"How should I?" Alida countered.

He caught her by the shoulders, and shook her ever so gently, answering, "Because you are a witch—that is to say, a woman. It is your birthright to know such things—especially when foolish men spend their strength to trying to show you."

Alida freed herself gently, danced away from him whirling on her tiptoes, and flung back over her shoulder. "Think of my petition—and say yes to it, when you come to tell us good-bye."

Danby strode after her, but she waved him imperiously back. He stood watching her until she vanished through the gate at the other side of the meadow. Then he went quickly homeward—to the house his great-grandfather had left him. It had stood empty, but for a caretaker, full twenty years. The caretaker had lived up to her name—a stout and cheery widow, she had kept the place spic and span, ready for occupancy any day of the year. She loved every stick and stone of it—hadn't she grown up in it? Her mother, old Edmund Danby's housekeeper, had been married in the great dim hall, with the master to give her his blessing, and come back to it as a haven in her sudden widowhood, so disillusioned she had never cared to listen to any other man.

She was waiting for him at the back gate, restfully placid as ever, with a faint unsteadiness in her eyes, voice as she said: "I'd ha' liked to be the first to wish ye joy, Master Edmund—but that don't hinder me wishin' it to ye with all my heart."

"You're very kind, Mrs. Jane," Danby answered heartily. "But—please tell me, is the wish general or special?"

"I'm wishin' ye joy o' gettin' married," Mrs. Jane interrupted. As Danby stared at her she hurried on. "But I can't be reconciled to ye partin' the Old Master's goods with that filly Lida Main—she told a to my face she was going to have the flower'd table set in a place o' honor."

"Did she say when?" Danby asked, his eyes beginning to twinkle.

Mrs. Jane tossed her head impatiently. "Why, after the weddin', of course," she said. "She told me both o' you were goin' to marry in the fall."

Danby waited to hear no more—with a face illumined he strode away toward the Main house. Inside ten minutes he had found Lida the elusive, cornered her, apparently against her will, and was putting her through a searching cross examination. At first she fenced with him, parrying cleverly—but after a little flung up her head defiantly, saying: "You may say what you like—but the real best man at any wedding is always—the groom."

"Then I accept the place with all my heart," Danby said, kissing her in spite of herself.

Daddy's Bedtime Story —
When Dolly
Was Nearly Drowned.

May's Doll Fell
Into the Water.

"DADDY," said Jack one evening, "Evelyn and I went out to look for flowers today."

"Did you find any?" asked daddy.

"Only a few," said Jack, "and we gave them to mother."

"That was right," said daddy. "You remind me of two little friends of mine who went out once to look for flowers and who met with quite a mishap. They were brother and sister."

"Were their names Jack and Jill?" asked Evelyn, laughing.

"No," said daddy, "and they didn't fall down a hill either. The little girl fell somewhere else. Her name was May, and her brother's name was Philip."

"May and Philip lived on a farm. They had many pets, but they liked best their little fish, which swam round and round in a large tank near the windmill. The children used to save their crusts and feed them to the fish, and the fish knew them and used to swim to the edge of the tank when they saw the children coming. Philip said they would answer when he called them by swimming to the side of the tank, but I think Philip imagined this."

"Well, one day May and Philip had been out on a daisy hunt, but they had not found many, for it was too early in the year for daisies. On their way back to their home they stopped at the tank to give the fishes some bread they had brought with them."

"The children had been warned not to go too near the edge of the tank, for, although the water was not deep enough to drown them, it was deep enough to give them a bad wetting if they should fall in. But this time May, who had her dolly in her hand, got too near the edge, slipped and fell in. She screamed, of course, and she let go of her dolly, which floated away in the water."

"Philip was somewhat frightened, but he was brave and strong for a little fellow, so he leaned over the edge, caught hold of May's dress and pulled her out. Then the two, forgetting all about poor dolly, hurried away to the house. It was not until May's clothing had been changed and she had got over her fright that she remembered her poor child left in the tank with the fish."

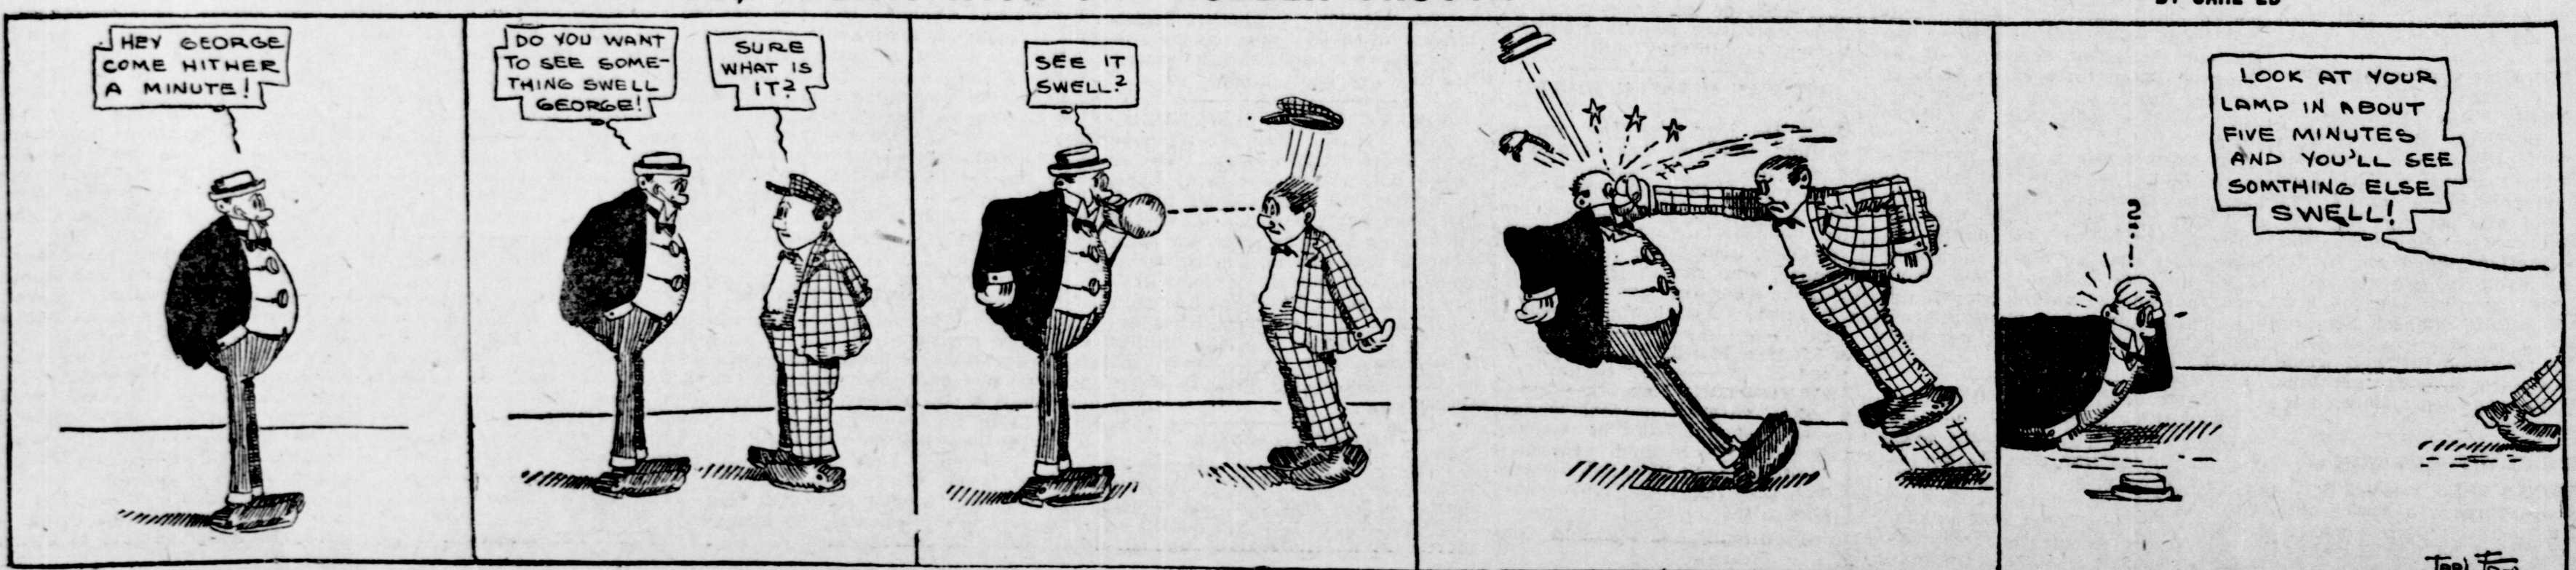

"Of course some one had to go to the doll's rescue. 'I'm afraid she'll be drowned or she'll catch her death of cold!' cried May. So big brother hurried off to save dolly."

"He found her floating in the middle of the tank, with the fish swimming around and looking at her. Big brother said they looked puzzled, but I'm afraid he said this only to tease May. However, he fished dolly out with a long pole and brought her home to May, who changed her clothing quickly. She didn't catch cold, either."

WONDERFUL POWER OF THE THEATER

Consider the theater—the good
that it is, and the evil that it is.
Consider the unequivocal good that it might be. We know of no medium that conveys this immense thought with greater clearness and certainty than these three short paragraphs by Henry Arthur Jones:

"Consider for a moment, the millions of our citizens living sedentary, monotonous lives in their little, drab, square brick boxes. The great majority of them have toiled during the day at desks, at looms, in shops,
at some mere routine task, which instead of quickening their powers has rather clogged and deadened them.
Now the dreary routine of the day
is over, and these millions have gone forth to search for relaxation and amusement.
"I will ask you to enlarge the spaces of imagery in your minds until they contain seating capacity for hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions. Summon them all before you.
Multiply row after row, tier above
tier, at this moment listening, watching, weeping; here, catching a moment of responsive rapture from some heroic sentiment; there, grinning and chuckling at some halfveiled indecency; here, tasting the fine flavor of a choice Shakespearean passage; there, working themselves into a frenzy of vicarious valor by the cheapest jingo bluster; here, melting and sobbing over some scene of domestic pathos; there, rolling or roaring over some piece of stale buffoonery; here, mystified and awed by the tricks of the scene-shifter; there, charmed, exhilarated, humanized, vi-talized.
"Again survey these myriads of amusement-seekers; catch the echoes of their 'innumerable laughter.' Consider how enormous, how far-reaching, how operative, not only upon manners, but upon conduct and character, must be the effect upon them
of what occupies their evening hours of leisure. It is only in these two or three evening hours that nine-tenths of our population can be said to live at all."

MORE NATIONAL MUSIC
BUT OF RIGHT SORT

"What America needs is more national music and songs," declares Mrs. Julius Kinney, president of the National Federation of Musical clubs.
"We need vital songs that will get into the system. One of the things that makes a prosperous and home loving nation is its devotion to music." Mrs. Finney is right. We need more national songs. But we don't need any more ragtime or any more

of those things that go by the name of popular songs. But, where are our national songs to come from?

All of the old-world nations are rich in folk songs and national airs.
These songs and airs have come down from primitive times. The represent in a sense the spirit of the people.
The German song, the Slav polka, the Irish air, the Italian song, all are different. What are known as "national airs" usually are written in crises. Haydn wrote the Austrian national air in a crisis. The "Marsellaise" blossomed out during the French revolution. "The Star Spangled Banner," probably the best of our so-called "national" airs, was born amid the suspense of war.

Can any man sit down in cold
blood and write a "national" air?
It appears not. Many have tried it, but failed. There must be a condition of the public mind which makes a song or an air appear like an inspiration. Usually that inspiration and that state of mind come with national crises, such as wars.
Even our little war in Spain came near lifting "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" into the list of our lasting national tunes.

The nations of the world are being fused in this country. German, Irish, Bohemian, Pole, Russian, Italian,
English, Greek, Armenian, French, Swede each brings his home idea of music to this melting pot. Out of all this conglomeration may come some day a definite musical idea which shall be distinctively American.

THE RIGHT OF ALL

There is justice in a new state law providing that saloonkeepers may not be convicted of selling liquor to minors in cases where the sale resulted from misrepresentation on the part of the minor, provided the defendant
took precautions which, had the minor been honest, would have given him a chance to decline to make the sale.

In the past the man selling the drink could be convicted, even though the minor looked of legal age and declared he was of legal age. The new law provides that if the saloon-keeper can prove that he asked the customer his age, and that in reply
the customer declared he was of legal age, the saloonkeeper must be acquitted, but that in the case the minor himself must pay the fine. Lots of boys of seventeen look twenty-five,
and as the alternative imposition of the fine on the minor will serve as a deterrent upon a minor who might otherwise lie to get a drink, the operation of the law will make for justice. So long as we license men to sell liquor we have no right to subject them to injustice. Square dealing hurts no cause.

The next step along this line
should be a law providing that notices forbidding sale of liquor to
"posted" men should carry the photograph of the "posted" man. At present a saloonist who sells to a posted man whom he never saw before and has no means of identifi-fying, is guilty of an offense. Obviously the enforcement of the law
must often work a hardship on a sa-loonist who, had he known the man was posted, would under no circumstances have sold the drink.

EUROPE AGAIN BULLIES
BRAVE LITTLE NEIGHBOR

Europe's treatment of Montenegro
is another example of the cynical disregard of equity which she has shown in her dealings with the Balkan nations. Every other of the Balkan group has seized and is holding a particular share in the spoils of war. Montenegro had only this city of Scutari, which the powers have taken to award to the new independent kingdom of Albania.

The only excuse for the making of this new kingdom is the desire of Europe to truckle to Austria. That country wishes to drive a wedge between Serbia, and incidentally Montenegro, and the sea. Austria long has looked for an outlet on the Aegean. If the strong young Balkan confederacy owned that part of Turkey known as Albania this ambition must be given up forever. With this as an independent kingdom, however,
it is possible that in years to come Austria influence may worm its way to a protectorate.

Montenegro intended to make Scutari its capital instead of Cetinje, now exposed to Austrian attack.

A St. Louis butcher has made a sausage fifty feet long. It would be interesting to know if he can do it and make both ends meet.

With all this Jap trouble and tariff worries, why in the world doesn't the colonel speak and give us some of his wisdom?

The ultimate consumer now has a short season of victory. Dandelion greens are ripe in the back yard.

Quips and Cranks
and Wanton Wiles

The Cost of Living
Says old man Haskins of our town:
"The cost of livin' ain't goin' down,
Although the folks may holler and tell,
They've been hollerin' the same fer
quite a spell.
I remember 'way back in '84
The folks was madder'n ever before,
When they noticed first the increased expense,
And they have been hollerin' ever since.
They holler till they're sick and sore
and lame,
But they keep on payin' just the same."

Although they threaten and wail
and shout,
There ain't one thing they will do without.
Fer every family in this broad land
Is as good as the next one, understand.
They caterwaller and they wipe
their eyes,
But they don't seem willing to economize.
When one feller gits some jimerack
new,
The next feller's got to have one,
too.
They all keep diggin' down in their jeans
And tryin' to live beyond their means.
If this goes on to the end of time,
The cost of livin' is going to climb.
Fer when you put on new-fangled
frills,
You surely have got to pay the bills.

An Unappreciated Joke
"Hallo, Jim! You're the very man
I want to see. I've got a new one for you."
"A new what?"
"A new conundrum."
"There isn't such a thing," asserted Jim. "If it's good it isn't new. If it's new it isn't—"
"Oh, stop it, man, and listen!
What's the difference between a poet
and a plumber?"
"A poet and a plumber? That's easy enough. A poet hasn't any money, and a—"
"My good chap, you're miles off the track," his friend interrupted. "This is the answer: A poet pipes a lay,
and a plumber lays a—"
"My plumber doesn't," began Jim.
"He—"
But there Jim stopped. His friend
was stalking off, muttering fiercely:
"What's the good of telling a joke
to a man with no more sense of humor than an ox?"—Answers.

A New Form of Music
He was a fellow of delicate organism. When he heard a sound which irritated him, he leaped madly to his feet, and rushed from the room, or,
if he happened to be on the ground floor, dived through a window and landed in the flower garden.
Having been invited from the city
to the country, he found himself surrounded every day by a family who had not the faintest, elemental ideas of how to eat soup. He stood it two days, his jangling nerves urging him every moment to rebellion. Finally,
the oldest daughter of the house confided to him her objection to her father's habit of eating soup in a loud manner.
The nervous visitor, who thought the father didn't have much on the daughter in this regard, exclaimed:
"Loud eating of soup? He doesn't eat it. He whistles it!"

Do You Envy Others
Their Health?

Every man or woman whose blood is watery and impure shows
it by the languid step and tired
out, used-up air of the sick person.
It is impossible for the bloodless person to be well, active and strong.
When the blood is bad the body is weak and helpless against disease.
The stomach is deprived of its source of strength and gets out of order. It can no longer properly nourish the body. The liver becomes sluggish, the brain dull and
the complexion pale and sallow.
Thin, impure blood is therefore a standing invitation to sickness. It is an open door that the grip, malaria, neuralgia, sciatica, rheumatism and nervous troubles find easy to enter and prostrate the defeated body.
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will build up and purify the blood until it becomes a health-bearing stream. No part of the body can escape their beneficial influence. Their effect is general and soon the appetite picks up,

NEW AMBASSADOR ON JOB AT WASHINGTON

—(C) Harris & Ewing.
Sir Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice.

Sir Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice, the new British ambassador to this country, has taken up his work at Washington and bids fair to be almost as popular at the national capital as was Ambassador Bryce. He is most democratic and approachable. Of medium height and medium build, with a good head and forehead, blue eyes, deep set and a grizzled gray Van Dyke beard, giving a business air to a keen intellectual face, he is not of the physical type of the big, imposing ruddy faced diplomat, picturing magnificent audacity, but his looks betoken
rather methods of great affability, powers of analysis and the ability to use the lancet instead of the big stick.

The Just and
The Unjust

The Prodigal Judge

He did not speak again until Bill came to a stand before Judge Langham's gate.
"Are we there?" he asked of the boy.

"Yes—"
"Don't you think we'd better get help?" said Shrimplin.
And Marshall, seeming to acquiesce in this, the little lamp-lighter entered the yard and going to the front door rang the bell. A minute passed, and growing impatient he rang again. There succeeded another interval of waiting in which Shrimplin cocked his head on one side to catch the sound of possible footsteps in the hall.
"He says try the knob," called Custer from the cart.

Doing this, Shrimplin felt the door yield, it was not locked; at the same instant he made this discovery, however, he heard a footfall in the street and so hurried back to the gate. The new-comer halted
when he was abreast of wild Bill,
and stared first at the cart and then at Shrimplin.
"Is anything the matter?" he asked.
It was Watt Harbison.
"Young Mr. Langham has fell off the high iron bridge," said the little lamp-lighter, with a dignity that more than covered his lapse from grammar.
"Why, are you badly hurt, Marsh?" cried Watt, coming close to the cart.
"I don't know. I'm in most infernal pain," said Langham slowly.
"Do you think we can lift him?"
asked Shrimplin. "The judge don't seem to be at home."
"Your boy would better go to my uncle's; Judge Langham may be there," said Watt.
And Custer promptly slid out of the cart and sped off up the street.
Langham met the delay with grim patience. A strange indifference had taken the place of fear,
nothing seemed of much moment
any more. Presently in his stupor
he heard the sound of quick steps,
then Colonel Harbison's voice, and a moment later he was aware that the three men had lifted him from the cart and were carrying him
along the path toward the house.
They entered the hall.
"Take me up-stairs," he said,
and without pause his bearers
moved forward.

They saw now that his face was pinched and ghastly under the smear of blood that was oozing from an ugly cut on his cheek, and Watt and the colonel exchanged significant glances. When they reached the head of the stairs Custer pushed open the first door; the room thus disclosed was in darkness, and the colonel, with a whispered caution to his companions,
released his hold on Langham, and striking a match, stepped into the room where, having found the chandelier, he turned on the gas.
As the light flared up, Shrimplin
and Watt advanced with their helpless burden. It was the judge's chamber they had entered and it was not untenant, for there on the bed lay the judge himself.

It was Langham who first saw that recumbent figure. A hoarse inarticulate groan escaped him. He twisted clear of the hands that supported him and by a superhuman effort staggered to his feet, he even took an uncertain step in the direction of the bed, his starting eyes fixed on the spare figure. Then his strength deserted him and with a cry that rose to a shriek, he pitched forward on his face.
The colonel strode past the fallen man to the bedside, where for an instant he stood looking down on a pale face and into open eyes. As his glance wandered he saw that the judge's nerveless fingers still grasped the butt of a revolver.
White-faced he turned away. "Is he dead, Colonel?" asked the little lamp-lighter in an awe-struck voice.
"Was he murdered?" and visions of future notoriety flashed through his mind.

The colonel and Watt exchanged shocked glances.
"Here, Shrimplin, help me with Marsh!" said Watt. "We must get him out of here at once!"
They lifted Langham in their arms and bore him into an adjoining room. As they placed him upon the bed he recovered consciousness
and clutched Watt by the sleeve.
"I've been seeing all sorts of things tonight—it began while I lay in that ditch with the pigs rooting
about me! Where is my father, can't you find him?" he demanded eagerly.

Watt turned his head away.
"Then that was not a dream—
you saw it, too?" said Langham huskily. He dropped back on his pillow. "Dead—Oh, my God!" he whispered, and was a long time silent.
Harbison despatched Shrimplin
and Custer in quest of a physician,
and he and Watt busied themselves with removing Marshall's wet clothes. When this was done they washed the blood-stains from his face. He did not speak while they were thus occupied; his eyes, wide
and staring, were fixed on vacancy.
He was seeing only that still figure
on the bed in the room adjoining.
There was a brisk step on the stairs and they were joined by Doctor Taylor.
"I declare, Marsh, I am sorry for this. You must have had quite a tumble, how did you manage it?"
he said, as he approached the bed.
Langham's eyes lost something of their intentness as they were turned toward the physician, but he did not answer him. The doctor moved a step aside with Colonel Harbison.

"Had he been drinking?" he asked in a low tone.
"I don't know," said the colonel.
"Shrimplin has gone for Mrs.
Langham—I think they are here
now. Don't let her come up until I have made my examination. Will you see to this?"
And the colonel quitted the room
and hurried down-stairs.
As he gained the floor below,
Evelyn entered the house.
"How is Marsh, Colonel Harbison?" she asked.
Her face was colorless but her manner was unexcited; her lips
even had a smile for the colonel.
"Doctor Taylor is with him, and I trust he will be able to tell you that Marshall's injuries are not serious!" said Harbison gently.
"Where is he? I must go to him!"
"The doctor prefers that you wait until he finishes his examination," said the colonel. He drew her into the library. "Evelyn, I must tell you—you must know that something else—unspeakably dreadful—has happened here tonight."
"Yes?" The single word was no more than a breath on her full lips.
The colonel hesitated.
"The judge is dead," said Har-bison simply. "My poor old friend is dead!"

Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells and Mrs.

A negro boy was brought up in a police court for the fifth time on a charge of chicken stealing, and the magistrate decided to try the effect of an appeal to the boy's father.

"Now, see here, Abe," he said to the ducky—"this boy of yours has been in court so many times for stealing chickens that I'm tired of seeing him here."

"Ah don't blame you, sah!" replied the father. "Ah's tired of see-

"Then why don't you teach him
how to act? Show him the right

Health and Beauty Advice
BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Annette: (1) Sometimes a druggist endeavors to discourage the making of home remedies because he thinks it interferes with his business.
I never suggest the use of anything that is not sold in first-class drug stores. (2) To make kardene spring blood tonic and liver remedy get 1 ounce of kardene, mix it with 1/2 cupful of sugar and add 1/2 pint of alcohol and 1 1/2 pints of hot water. This formula makes a full quart of tonic,
of which you should take 1 tablespoonful 5 minutes before each meal and before retiring. As an all-around tonic this has no superior.
It will restore your lost appetite and tend to strengthen and build you up. It purifies blood and your pimples and ugly blotches will soon disappear.

Virginia: A good "liquid-powder"
or face-wash which when on seems a part of the skin is made by dissolving 4 ounces of supramin in 1/2 pint
of hot water or witch hazel and adding 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This home-made complexion-beautifier whitens the skin without the use of powder and is particularly recommended for the use of anyone who has a sallow, dark or oily skin.Constance: To remove dandruff and stop falling hair, apply once a week a quinine hair-tonic, made by dissolving 1 ounce of quinine in 1/2
pint of alcohol, adding 1/2 pint of cold water. Rub into the scalp and hair with the finger tips until absorbed.
This treatment will promote the growth of hair and tend to make it luxuriant and glossy. (See answer to Molly).Molly: It is not necessary to shampoo the hair oftener than twice a month if you use a shampoo that will thoroughly cleanse the hair and scalp. An inexpensive shampoo that makes the head feel good and helps the hair is made by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthox in a cupful of hot water. Pour on the hair and rub well. You will find that this makes a good lather—and plenty of it—thoroughly cleanses the hair and scalp and relieves irritation and stimulates roots to helpful action.Viola: Yes, healthy eyes are clear and sparkling. If yours are dull, redStudent: It will be good news to you to learn that what you eat is now thought to have little to do with obesity and that if enough exercise is taken, even a fleshy woman may eat what she wants. To half starve oneself means to look haggard and altogether unlovely. Don't drink while eating, even water, and don't drink alcohol beverage at any time.
The best flesh-reducer I know of is parnotic. Get from your druggist an original 4-ounce package of parnotic, take it home and dissolve it in 1 1/2 pints hot water. Take one tablespoonful 3 times a day, before meals.Olga N.: The disfiguring hairy growth can be permanently banished
by using a delatone paste. Get a small, original package of delatone and mix enough of the powder with water to cover the objectionable hairs. Let remain 2 or 3 minutes, then remove and wash the skin. This simple treatment dissolves the hairs
and leaves the skin free from blemish.

STORE IS ROBBED BY DAYLIGHT THIEF

Grocery of Mrs. T. Thorgeson, 2108 George Street, Loses $20.00

LOOK FOR 17 YEAR OLD BOY

John Huss Seen in Store Just Before Money Loss Was Discovered

The second daylight robbery in two days was perpetrated yesterday morning with the theft of $20 from the grocery store owned by Mrs. T. Thorgeson, 2108 George street.

The police are looking for a boy by the name of John Huss, 17, who was seen in the store a few minutes prior to the discovery of the loss. Mrs. Thorgeson had stepped out of the store into her apartment in the rear of the building, and upon returning to the store found Huss standing near the end of the counter. When he was asked what he wanted he replied nervously that he didn't know, and later purchased five cents worth of candy.

$20 Missing

Upon the boy's departure from the store Mrs. Thorgeson found that $16 in bills, and $4 in silver was missing from her pocketbook which was hanging near the cash drawer. The drawer showed signs of being tampered with.

The police were notified and Patrolman Michael Britton and Detective Fitzsimmons were detailed on the case.

The boy's whereabouts was not discovered until about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when he and another boy are alleged to have gone into the store making threatening statements to Mrs. Thorgeson telling that they were going away, and would return and "fix her."

Quits His Job

Huss has been an employee of the Montague Candy company until a few days ago and quit his job without his parents' knowledge. For the past few days he has been loitering around a place on George street, talking with some boys about a "tramping" expedition that they had planned.

A rigid search on the north side last night and yesterday afternoon by the police with an automobile failed to disclose him.

A DOLLAR A YEAR

is All Mrs. Campbell Needs to Keep in Good Health Now, According to Her Own Statement

Moro, Ark.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Anna Campbell says: "Seven years ago I was in a critical condition—was so weak that I could not get out of bed for four weeks. I was advised to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I bought a bottle.

Before I had taken two-thirds of it, I was not only able to be up, but could do my work.

At times, now, I have headache, backache, and weak trembling spells, but it doesn't take but three or four doses of Cardui to straighten me out, ready for work.

I have been using Cardui for 11 years, but it only takes one bottle a year for me now, and I don't take any other kind of medicine.

I am also giving it to my daughter, and it is doing her all the good in the world.

I would not be without Cardui in my home."

This letter, picked at random from our file of many similar ones, should certainly convince you that Cardui is, at least, entitled to a fair trial, if you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, or merely need a tonic for that tired, nervous, worn-out feeling.

Cardui has been helping weak women for over half a century. It will help you too.

Try Cardui.

Freight Wrecks

Six Cars of Merchandise Strewn Over Right of Way at Monroe Sunday

Two accidents occurring in the past two days on the Milwaukee railroad which resulted in small damage are regarded as strange in that the trains were traveling at a fast rate of speed. Six freight cars of an extra freight train derailed Sunday morning, and two freight cars of an extra freight train this morning were derailed near Richmond.

Six Cars Derailed

Six freight cars loaded with merchandise were strewn along the steep embankment of the Milwaukee railroad a mile and a half west of Monroe, Wis., Sunday morning, when the rear end of an extra freight west bound was derailed. One freight car partly left the track, and the caboose was thrown upon the trucks of the other cars, having three sets of trucks under it.

The embankment at this point where the track crosses just beyond the high honeycomb bridge, is about twenty-five feet high. The cars rolled three on each side.

A car load of coal was strewn across the track. Merchandise such as candy, groceries, breakfast foods and bottled beer was scattered along the embankment.

Gang Gets Beer

An amusing incident of the mishap was the action of a gang of Italians, working near the scene of the wreck, who scrambled for the beer. Incidentally work was postponed for the day. The cause of the wreck was thought to be a heavy brakebeam that fell across the track derailing the cars. Engineer Smith and Fireman Kill were in charge of the train.

Little Loss at Richmond

Two merchandise cars of an extra freight, on the Southern Minnesota division of the Milwaukee were derailed at Richmond, Minn., yesterday afternoon, when a draw bar pulled out on one of the cars. Little damage was done. A delay of several hours was caused. Number 18 arrived in La Crosse four hours late.

STEAL JEWELS IN CROWDED STORE
MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 13.—
While scores of shoppers thronged
the aisles of Gimbel Brothers' department store, Grand Avenue and West Water street, and the downtown streets black with a constant procession of people, Clay Raymond and August Stolly, alias Gus Riemann, made a desperate attempt to rob the jewelry department of a $1,500 tray of diamonds on Monday afternoon. Both were captured after a spectacular chase in which hundreds joined.

THREATENS ADOLPHUS BUSCH
KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 13.—
The police today are looking for an armed man who attempted to board
the private car of Adolphus Busch, the millionaire St. Louis brewer, as the Chicago & Alton passenger train to which it was attached, left here late last night.
The man waved a revolver and seized one of the hand grips as the train was running rapidly through the southern section of the city, near the scene of the Kansas City Southern hold up a short time ago. The swooping of the car caused him to lose his balance and he fell from the steps.
Busch, who is ill and being taken to his home, was not told of the incident. The train conductor wired back to the Kansas City police.

GRANT LICENSES AND BAR SALOONS

HECIA, S. D., May 13.—The town trustees increased the liquor license
to $1,500, then passed a resolution prohibiting a saloon within 150 feet of the main street, which in this village is the only business street. The residence district, which comprises the side streets that branch from the main street, promptly protested against permitting the saloons to enter their section. Consequently, though the liquor dealers have permits to carry on their business, they
as yet have failed to find locations
for their saloons.

BROADEN NORSE SUFFRAGE
CHRISTIANA, May 13.—Women
suffragists throughout Norway today
are rejoicing over the unanimous report of the constitution committee of the storting favoring the proposed new electoral law, giving the franchise to women on the same terms as is granted to men. The measure, which will add about 200,000 women to the total number of Norwegian voters will almost certainly be passed, it is said, by the radical majority in the storting.
It's enough to discourage temperance advocates when money gets

YESTERDAY'S WORK
IN THE LEGISLATURE

MADISON, Wis., May 13.—(Special.)—Without even the suggestion of a debate the senate put through a score of assembly bills and engrossed
as many more at the meeting last night. The senate unanimously endorsed the Axel Johnson joint resolution memorializing congress to pass Senator La Follette's bill in congress for an easier method of amending the federal constitution. The La Follette bill provides that upon application of the legislatures of ten states for a certain constitutional amendment the question of the adoption of the amendment must be submitted to the people at the next general election. As the Johnson memorial has now passed both houses it will be forwarded to congress.

The senate passed the following bills:
Nye—Requiring the publication of the proceedings under the commission form of government cities in newspapers.
Hinkel—All persons in line when the time for the closing the polls has arrived shall be permitted to vote.
Rhea—County superintendents shall hold examinations in two different places in counties at least twice a year.
Litza—Financial budget in cities of the first class shall be made up in October for the following year.
T. A. Stewart—Railroad commission may require the building of woven wire fences along railroad tracks,
instead of barb wire fences.
Bingham—The state shall license and bond all private employment agencies.
Frederick—Chickens shall be shipped to market in crates at least sixteen inches high and shall be covered with woven wire.
Laycock—Common councils may permit streets to be sprinkled with oil.
Minkley—The profits of the municipal water plant in Milwaukee may be expended for sewerage construction.
All of the above measures have been through the lower house and will now go to the governor. The senate engrossed the Sharp bill to permit the wages of convicts to be used to support those dependent upon them. It killed the Linley bill to have the state pay the expenses of farmers attending the short course in agriculture at the university and the Conway bill to permit cities, villages and towns to purchase the bonds of a private utility.
The Stevens bill for an habitual criminals act—one of the two large criminology reforms advocated strongly by the state board of control—met its death in the assembly
last night, where the vote by which it previously was concurred in was reconsidered and the bill non-curred
in.

The assembly engrossed the Hansen bill as amended, enlarging the powers of police and fire commissioners in cities of the third class; the Zinn bill authorizing cities of the first three classes to regulate steam boilers and engines and to license
their operators; the Millar bill providing for the insurance of the buildings and property of county and school districts in the state insurance fund; the Hinkel bill authorizing cities to ratify and validate obligations heretofore attempted to be incurred by them; the Rosa bill, requiring that motor vehicles in the night time must be stopped at a distance within which the light of the car may be thrown ahead; the Nye bill empowering county boards to adopt and improve designated roads
as trunk roads; the Hinkel bill requiring that in Milwaukee school teachers in signing contracts to teach thereby are assumed to have accepted the provisions of the teachers' retirement fund law, and providing that the board of school directors shall pay one per cent of the school fund
into the teachers' retirement fund;
the Nye bill appropriating $15,000
to send a commission to represent Wisconsin at the Norwegian national exposition at Christiania next year;
and the Richards bill creating the town of Round Lake, Sawyer county.
Assemblymen Rosa and Estabrook tried unsuccessfully to pass the bill designed to prevent runaway marriages. It failed by a close vote.
Senator White's bill to raise the state game warden's salary from $2-000 to $2,500 was non-concurred in.
The assembly concurred in Senator Bossard's bill appropriating $50,000 annually for state aid to county tuberculosis sanatoria and fixing the allowance per patient at $5 per week.
The same action was taken on Senator H. C. Martin's bill providing that the commitment of felons, if for one year or more, shall be to the state prison or state reformatory.
Third reading was ordered for a bill by the committee on state affairs
prohibiting non-residents from fishing in inland waters of the state with seine, fyke, hoop net or turtle net.

Assemblyman Richardson's bill giving power to town meetings to regulate the moving of traction and steam engines on highways was laid over until Wednesday, as was the Hanson bill to make the office of insurance commissioner elective.

SOCIETY ANNIVERSARY DINNER

ly decorated for the occasion and several musical numbers were furnished. Light refreshments were provided.
The surprise of the evening was sprung by Mr. C. F. White, who made a pleasant address expressing the appreciation of the services of the pastor, and finally wound up with a nice fat purse containing a sum of money donated by friends to defray expenses for a trip to Detroit to the May anniversary of the Baptist denominational.

Good for the Children
There's a wealth of health in every can of Rona Cocoa. It's good for growing children—invigorating—nutritious—muscle-building.
Rona Cocoa is made in Holland by the old Dutch process. The indigestible fibre is taken out, freeing it from sediment—making it soothing—delicious. That's why Rona Cocoa dissolves instantly in boiling water. No trouble to make it.
VAN HOUTEN'S
RONA
DUTCH COCOA
Best of all, Rona Cocoa costs only half as much as domestic cocoas, because it goes twice as far. You use only one-half a teaspoonful to the cup. It's economical—a 25c can makes 64 cups. Children like it—it's a nourishing food.
Ask your grocer for Rona—the Dutch Cocoa in the big red can. Use it as a beverage or for cakes, puddings, fudges, or sauces. You'll like the rich,
Dutch, chocolate flavor. Two sizes: 10c and 25c.

SHH! LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN FADED GRAY HAIR—USE SAGE TEA
Sage Mixed with Sulphur Restores Natural Color
and Lustre to Hair.
Why suffer the handicap of looking old. Grey hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance.
Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wavy and scraggly just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.
Either prepare the tonic at home
or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use,
but listen, avoid preparations put up by druggists as they usually use too much sulphur, which makes the hair sticky. Get "Wyeth's" which can always be depended upon to darken beautifully and is the best thing known to remove dandruff,
stop scalp itching and falling hair.
By using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur
no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair. It does it so naturally and evenly—you moisten
a sponge or soft brush, drawing
this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time which requires but a few moments. Do this at night and by morning the gray
hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored and it becomes glossy and lustrous and you appear years younger.

STONED TO DEATH
IN RACE CONFLICT
GLOBE, Ariz., May 13.—One man
was stoned to death and another seriously hurt in a race war early on Sunday at Miami, near Globe, between Americans and Mexicans. A crowd of Americans were the aggressors. Three of them are in the county jail here. A gang of Americans determined to run the Mexicans out of the town and the first they encountered were Jose Peres and M.
Ortiz. The Mexicans were chased through the streets until they dropped with broken heads. Peres died soon afterward and Ortiz was taken to a hospital.

BURNING STEEPLE KILLS THREE MEN

Police and Fire Chiefs and Patrolman Die when Blazing Belfry
Falls

STAFFORD, Ont., May 13.—The tall spire of the Knox Presbyterian church, 160 feet above the curb, was struck by lightning early today and in the ensuing fire the chief of police, the fire chief and a patrolman were killed and a fireman was probably fatally injured. The three men killed were buried beneath the burning belfry when it toppled and fell. The fireman was struck down with a blow on the head from a falling timber. The dead are: J. A. McCarthy, chief of police; Hugh Durkin, fire chief; Matthew Hamilton, policeman. The injured, Sidney Vanstone.

The steeple, visible for a great distance, burned without hindrance as the streams of water fell many feet short of the fire and McCarthy, Durkin and Hamilton, dragging hose, had scrambled up a ladder to the roof when the belfry toppled and fell. It came down showering embers in every direction. McCarthy and Hamilton died instantly. Durkin died on his way to a hospital.

The blaze spread to the main part of the building and burned itself out.

The loss is about $50,000.

MAY BAR LOBBY IN THE ASSEMBLY

MADISON, Wis., May 13.—(Special.)—The bars against lobbyists are put up a notch higher in a resolution introduced in the lower house this morning by Assemblyman Douglas Anderson. It proposed the adoption of the senate's rule to the effect that "no ex-member or any other person who shall be directly or indirectly interested in defeating or promoting any pending legislation whether registered as a lobbyist or not, shall have the privilege of the floor of the assembly at any time."

Several former members who have been conspicuous around the chamber recently are hit by the rule.

Willing to Become an Enemy.

"The quickest way to make an enemy of a man is to lend him five dollars," said a philosopher, sententiously; and then, with a half-concealed show of eagerness, he inquired: "Isn't there somebody around here who would like to make an enemy of me?"

Expensive Drop.

Hiram Jones, says Lippincott's Magazine, had just returned from a tour of Europe. "I suppose," said a friend, "that when you were in England you did as the English do, and dropped your H's?" "No," moodily responded the returned traveler, "I didn't. I did as the Americans do. I dropped my V's and X's."

It Spread Easier.

One cold night a few years ago, we were all seated at the table eating our dinner. The butter was very hard, and, consequently, remarks were made about it. The next week the weather was very warm and the butter was somewhat soft. Little Billy, six years old, suddenly exclaimed: "Mamma, the butter is easy tonight, isn't it?"

Economy, Frugality, Industry.

The original tightwad lives in Missouri. According to those who know him, he is so tight that he saves the tips of his shoe laces and sells them for old iron, and in the last 22 years he has realized 11 cents from their sale.—Popular Magazine.

Previously Engaged.

"Why did you break into the house in the middle of the day?" asked the magistrate. "Well," said the accused, "I had several others to cover that evening."

Actions speak louder than words.

Actions speak louder than words, but the man who neglects to say something good about himself now and then is likely to get lost in the cloud of dust at the rear of the procession.

M. P. OFFERS TO PUBLISH PAPER

Labor Member Is Willing to Print Militants' Suppressed Organ "The Suffragette"

MARCH ON LONDON WOMEN'S PLAN

Non-Militants to Start from Four Corners of the Island and Meet in the City

LONDON, May 13.—When the trial of the seven suffragettes and Edward G. Clayton, the Richmond chemist, all charged with conspiracy, was resumed in Bow street police court today, General Mrs. Flora Drummond failed to appear. A hospital surgeon testified that she was unable to come to court, having undergone a complete collapse from hunger-striking.

The women on trial, including Miss Annie Kenney, "chief of the staff" to Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, are those who were arrested when Scotland Yard detectives raided and closed up the headquarters of the Women's Social and Political Union in King's Way. Clayton is accused of aiding the militants by furnishing them information about explosives and combustibles.

M. P. Offers to Publish. Ramsay MacDonald, laborite member of parliament, and chairman of the labor committee, has signified his willingness to publish the Suffragette in defiance of the police suppression order against that organ of militancy, and accept the consequences. Kier Hardie has said that he will stand by MacDonald.

A gigantic demonstration in behalf of votes for women is being arranged by the National Union of Women's Suffrage societies, the non-militant group. It is planned for an army of 100,000 women to march on London from four directions, north, east, south and west, the various divisions converging in Trafalgar square.

For Working Women. The army is to be made up largely of women who work for their living and circulars are being sent out broadcast asking all working women who want the ballot to so arrange their vacations as to enable them to participate in the demonstration.

Scotland Yard detectives who participated in the raid on the union's headquarters and confiscated documents they found there, swore that the suffragettes had a system for the allotment of medals to militants who went on hunger strikes in prison, and underwent forcible feeding. Because of the absence of needed witnesses, the hearing was adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Guard English King. Several additional night watchmen, it was learned today, are being employed at Buckingham palace, presumably in apprehension of a suffragette plot against their majesties. They have been instructed especially to patrol the garden in the rear of the palace and to make frequent inspection of the doors and windows.

Several watchmen with felt-soled shoes are regularly assigned to pace the corridors of the building and one is always on duty at the door of the king's bedchamber from the time his majesty retires until his valet appears in the morning.

With the additional watchmen and the regular street guard of soldiers and policemen, King George is now as carefully protected day and night as is the czar of Russia.

BATTLESHIP PLANS STOLEN FROM U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The mysterious disappearance from the bureau of construction of the navy department plans for the new battleship Pennsylvania became known late today when Secretary of the Navy Daniels announced that the plans had evidently been stolen. The first theft was made on the night of March 4, when inauguration fireworks were being displayed and the navy department was open to visitors. These plans were those of the new battleship's decks, hatches and electrical wiring. Sometime later another set of plans were discovered missing. Secretary Daniels declared this afternoon that the plans were not considered of any importance. None of the navy's secrets were shown in them, Daniels asserted positively.

BALLOON STARTS FLIGHT

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—With three passengers aboard the balloon "Philadelphia No. 2" left here at 9:30 a. m. today on a flight to New York. The balloon is piloted by Dr. Thomas Eldridge. With him are Carlton Eldridge and Lloyd Barnett, who never went up.

Work for Men and Women.

After all, you know, there is room for both men and women in this world. Men have their work to do and women have theirs. It is the woman's work to provide for the inner man and it is the man's to provide for the outer woman.

SETTLE PROBE COURSE

DECIDE TODAY IF MORE WITNESSES WILL BE HEARD

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 13.—The senate committee named to investigate charges against Lieutenant Governor O'Hara will hold a session late this afternoon or this evening to determine its future course. Senator Etilson, its chairman, said today that the committee had not yet decided whether additional testimony will be heard.

The hearing, if one is called, will be in this city, probably Thursday evening. Sam Davis, the liquor dealer who is said to have caused the affidavit, Thomas Vredenburg, said to be one of the Hotel Sherman party, and Deputy Sheriff Sullivan, the "middleman," may all be called.

CANADA AWAITS U. S.

DOMINION NOT TO SETTLE TARIFF
SCHEDULES UNTIL AMERICAN ACTION IS MADE PUBLIC

OTTAWA, Ont., May 13.—The Canadian parliament today took up the consideration of the new revised tariff schedule. Although several changes were made in the measure, it was declared that the government would wait and see just what the American congress did before contemplating any change in Canada's fiscal policy.

The Canadian free list was extended in the measure presented by White to include typesetting and typesetting machinery; traction ditching machinery up to a cost of $3,000 per machine, on which the tariff is now 27½ per cent; miners' rescue supplies and glassware and scientific apparatus for use in hospitals. The duty on cement was reduced from 43½ to 35 cents per barrel.

HATFIELD COURTS PROBE

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 13.—With the resolution introduced by Senator Kern, scheduled to come up in the senate this afternoon, Gov. Hatfield issued a statement to the United Press in connection with the proposal to investigate the West Virginia mining conditions:

"I court the fullest and freest investigation of my actions by any impartial body," said Gov. Hatfield. "I have been governed solely by a desire to aid humanity, promote peace and harmony in the unfortunate industrial troubles, and to give a 'square deal' to all concerned."

FOSTER SHELL SAVES TURKEY

SHANGHAI, West Va., May 13.—A new wrinkle in surgery though it saved the insignificant life of one ugly looking little embryo turkey was pronounced a success here today. The surgeon was Edward Hayes. Noticing that one of a choice setting of turkey eggs had become smashed, "Surgeon" Hayes encased the broken one inside an empty shell and hermetically sealed the outer one. Today the young turkey successfully pecked through his foster casing and within an hour was a fluffy speckled youngster rapidly getting his long legs.

OPPOSING VIEWS OF G. O. P. MEET

Moose Deride and Stand-patters Defend Reorganization Conference

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The republican "get together" conference at Chicago was derided by house bull mooseers today and in a measure, at least, defended by the "regular" republicans.

"The so-called re-organization-harmony meeting at Chicago indicates that the men calling themselves progressive republicans admit the fundamental reason for the existence of the new progressive party," said Representative Hinebaugh, of Illinois one of the moose leaders. "The meeting indicates the irreconcilable differences in the old party. The only course for the progressive republicans is to come into the progressive party. I am firmly convinced they will eventually do just that thing."

Republicans in the house of the so-called "reactionary" faction said that the Chicago meeting could do no harm and might heal factional wounds.

"It is not the time to attempt re-organization," said Representative Moore of Pennsylvania, former secretary of the republican congressional committee, "although it is to be expected that men of many minds in the party will shortly confer with the view of reaching some understanding. I don't know of any co-called standpat republicans that are not ready to reorganize the party, but any object to being forced into a reorganization upon the ground that they were crooks, or had been unfaithful to the rank and file of the party."

"Aside from the differences of party organization, very little indeed divides the republicans who met at Chicago from the progressives in the progressive party," said Senator Poindexter, of Washington.

"The illogical position of these men attempting to work with the regular republicans is becoming more and more in evidence and their position is bound to become increasingly difficult as the special session advances."

Poindexter indicated the belief that the balance of power which was formerly held by the republican party is now swinging rapidly to the definitely progressive faction and that before the end of the present extra session, the republican regulars will become recognized as the "least of the minorities."

TO BURN 600 BODIES

50 FEDERALS AND 100 MADERISTAS
KILLED IN BATTLE LIE UNBURIED NEAR
GUAYMAS

NOGALES, Ariz., May 13.—Large quantities of wood and other materials for cremating bodies today were rushed south to the vicinity of Guaymas, Mexico, where the bodies of 600 Mexicans lie unburied. According to Colonel Juan Cabral, who arrived here last night, at least 500 Mexican federals were killed in the fighting near Guaymas in the past five days. He estimates the Maderista dead at about 100. Cabral declares no effort has been made to inter the bodies and that the Maderistas will now burn them to prevent the spread of disease.

CABINET TALKS OF PATRONAGE

WASHINGTON, May 13.—For two hours today the cabinet discussed appointments in the various departments, but when the session adjourned the policy of secrecy which has been substituted for the widely advertised "pitiless publicity" was continued. Not a single member would admit the nature of the business transacted. It was learned, however, that the complaints which are being made throughout the country by party workers and leaders, that their control is endangered because they are unable to produce needed patronage was one of the topics most widely discussed. As a result it is believed a number of important posts will be filled between now and Friday.

Wolf Dogs in Ireland.

Wild wolf-like dogs are still found in the remote parts of Ireland. They have soft, round ears, rather pleasant, broad faces, and can easily be tamed if they are caught young. They do not hunt in packs, like wolves, but usually live and hunt apart, with their mates. In bodily conformation they are much like the Eskimo dog, but of slighter build.

Disappointed.

My little niece came home from school rather late the other day. On her mother's questioning her as to what kept her so long, she exclaimed: "Oh, mother, a horse fell down, and they said they were going to send for a horse doctor. And what do you think? It wasn't a horse doctor at all. It was only a man."

BRYAN LAUDS PEACE TEACHER PUT ON TRIAL

COMMONER WELCOMES DELEGATES TO PEACE CONFERENCE IN A TOAST TO FRIENDSHIP AT BREAKFAST

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Toasting the "Ship of Friendship" and not the dreadnaught, Secretary of State Bryan today gave the foreign peace delegates welcome when they gathered to eat a breakfast in their honor given by John A. Stewart, founder of the peace centenary conference.

"Ever since the earliest days, men have been building ships," Bryan said. "They are still building them, but the ship we are planning is different from the others. Its compass is the heart; its shells carry good will; its missiles are projected by the smokeless powder of love; its captain is the Prince of Peace. I ask you all to drink with me to this new battleship—the ship of friendship. No target can withstand the shots that friendship sends abroad."

The delegates left here today for Philadelphia, where the British members are looking forward to seeing their first baseball game.

REBELS TO ATTACK TWO BORDER CITIES

EAGLE PASS, Texas, May 13.—Arrangements are being made today by constitutionalists to attack the two border towns and ports of entry at Nuevo Laredo and Matamoros. It was stated at the headquarters of Venustiano Carranza that assaults on both places probably would be made simultaneously tomorrow. Monterey is also surrounded by the rebels, and the fall of the federal garrison there is expected at any time. All railroad connection between the United States and the interior of Mexico is again cut off.

WRECKERS UNCOUPLE CARS

PATERSON, N. J., May 13.—For the third time in as many days an attempt was made to interfere with traffic on the Erie railroad today when two unidentified men attempted to uncouple two cars from passenger train No. 58. The other demonstrators along the railroad have taken the form of attempts to wreck trains, but both failed until a theatrical train stopped just in time to avoid being hurled from the track by a collision with a pile of railroad scrap on the tracks. No clue has been found that would lead to the identification of the would-be train wreckers, and though the police suspect persons connected with the Paterson silk strike, the I. W. W. leaders deny any of the strikers have had anything to do with the railroads.

Sure Enough.
 Frank and Fred, aged 6 and 4, respectively, were discussing a little sister who had died before the latter was born, and Fred said: "When I go to heaven I'll go right up to her and say, 'Hello! This is Freddy.'" "Why," said Frank, "she won't know you, because when she was, you wasn't."

Did you ever drink Choca?
 No one probably drinks "choca" now, a mixture of coffee with milk and chocolate. Yet it was a favorite beverage of many eminent persons, including Voltaire and Napoleon. And some years ago it was enthusiastically advocated in England by the late W. J. Thomas, first editor of London Notes and Queries, who wrote, "I do not know a draft which so perfectly soothes and revives as that of hot, well frothed choca." His recommendation fell flat.—London Chronicle.

Musical Note.
 What musical instrument has had an honorary degree conferred upon it? Fiddle D. D.—London Fun.

Truth by Accident.
 The best definition of a demagogue will always remain with the little girl of seven who said, "A demagogue is a vessel containing beer and other liquids."

Innocent.
 A New York man who tried to see a woman in a hobble skirt ascend a stairway fell in front of a train. It was always the innocent bystander who hurt.—University Missourian.

Wanted

Jobs Sticks.

Jobs sticks are made in vast quantities in China and other countries of the east. Chicago Grain Review
CHICAGO, May 13.—An easier feeling dominated the grain list today. Wheat was easier at the start and under selling pressure that was influenced by reports of good rains in Kansas. July dropped 1/2c in the morning session after opening easier by a fraction than at last night's closing. May declined 1/4c in the morning.

The corn market showed a little heaviness with a cessation of the eastern demand that made prices 1/4c easier. Offerings were not much improved.

The oats trade was of large volume. The demand was not as brisk for May as it was yesterday, and consequently May options declined 3/4c and July was down 1/4c under yesterday's closing.

Trade in provisions was at a standstill at the start with an easier feeling. Toward noon the market livened and prices were better.

Wheat broke sharply in the brief afternoon session, dropping 3/4c to 1/2c under heavy selling pressure.

Corn was weak at the close, going to bottom prices for the day.

Oats was slightly easier after noon. Provisions closed firm and higher.

Boston, 6; St. Louis, 4
BOSTON, May 13.—Although St. Louis outbatted the Braves nearly 2 to 1 yesterday, the locals won the game 6 to 4. The visitors used three pitchers and Boston two, but the hitting was hard and continuous. Seven doubles were registered and two triples. In the third inning the Phillies scored three runs on a triple, a double and Magee's home run. In the ninth Knabe tied up the score with a home run and the Phillies finally won out in the eleventh on Lobert's single which Wilson let get away from him, allowing the runner to go to third and he scored on Magee's sacrifice fly. Brooklyn, 5; Cincinnati, 3 BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 13.—The Dodgers yesterday again defeated the Reds, winning the second of the series 4 to 3. Score: R H E Cincinnati . . . 000030000—3 7 1 Brooklyn . . . 02011000x—4 8 1 Batteries: Johnson, Fromme, Clark and Kling; Rucker and Miller.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Philadelphia, 3; Chicago, 0
CHICAGO, May 13.—Two passes awarded by Russell proved costly for the White Sox here yesterday afternoon when the Athletics cupped the contest, 3 to 0. The locals made three more hits off Bender than the champions collected but the easterners bunched theirs so they counted. Score: R H E Philadelphia . . . 110001000—3 6 0 Chicago . . . 000000000—0 6 2 Batteries: Bender and Thomas; Russell, Smith and Schalk.

Washington, 2; St. Louis, 0
ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 13.—Washington evened up the series with the Browns yesterday taking a pitchers' battle by the score of 2 to 0. Groom allowed the locals only four hits. The Washington pitcher was also largely responsible for his own victory, making a triple and a double in four times at bat and scoring one run. Score: R H E Washington . . . 020000000—2 8 0 St. Louis . . . 000000000—0 4 2 Batteries: Groom and Henry; Mitchell and McAllister.

New York, 4; Cleveland, 3
CLEVELAND, May 13.—George McConnell's sterling pitching proved too much for the Naps yesterday and the highlanders won. Lajoie was out of the game with two split fingers. Turner played second. Score: R H E New York . . . 001030000—4 9 0 Cleveland . . . 000300000—3 7 2 Batteries: McConnell andweeney; Gregg and O'Neill.

BROWN EX-BOSS IS VINDICATED

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 13.—Jack O'Connor, former manager of the Browns, today holds a judgment of $5,000 against President Hedges and stands vindicated by a jury of the charge that he so manipulated the team that Napoleon Lajoie was ordered to beat Ty Cobb for the American league batting honors. O'Connor held a contract for two years and was let out by Hedges in the fall of 1910 on the above charges.

BEATS PAL MOORE

AKRON, Ohio, May 13.—Johnny Griffith, local lightweight, defeated Pal Moore of Philadelphia, in a twelve round bout here last night.

HUNTERS LICK VIRQUA
The Nuzum-Hunters of Readstown defeated the Virqua White Sox at Virqua Sunday by the score of 17 to 4. The Nuzum-Hunters are desirous of arranging games with La Crosse clubs as soon as possible. Address Ben S. Nuzum manager, Readstown, Wis.

MATTY IS HANGING CONTROL RECORD

NEW YORK, May 13.—While Walter Johnson is booming along in the American league approaching the record for consecutive runless innings pitched, Christy Mathewson is turning a few stunts along another line in the National. With the close of yesterday's game, Matty finished 47 innings without giving a base on balls. He has given but two passes all season and both were in the first game he pitched against Boston, April 17.

In the game against the Cubs yesterday Mathewson used just 78 pitched balls, an average of 2 1/2 balls to each batter that faced him. Thirty-three of these were strikes, sixteen were balls, twenty-five were hit for outs, three were hit safely, and one was hit for an infield error.

MEINERT'S BAT HAS LUCKY DAY

Dutch Meinert, local ball player who was one of the stars on the defunct Outcasts, corralled four hits in a game between Superior of the Nebraska State league and Clay Center of the Kansas State league at Superior Sunday. One of his hits was a two-bagger. Accounts of the game give Dutch credit for a 1 batting and fielding.

BIRMINGHAM BREAKS FOOT

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 13.—The hospital list of the Naps was augmented by one of the most valuable players, Manager Joe Birmingham. Joe broke his left foot sliding to second in the game with the Yankees yesterday and will be out of the game for about a month. This takes three regulars out of the Naps lineup. Catcher Land has a broken hand and Larry Lajoie has two broken fingers.

PRINCETON WINS ACQUATIC MEET

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 13.—Princeton showed aquatic strength and skill on Monday by outrowing Harvard and the University of Pennsylvania in a one and seven-eighths mile dash down the Charles river basin.

It was a stern chase for the winners most of the way, for their start was poor. Pennsylvania was overhauled at the half way mark and Harvard a mile down the course. Then the Tigers gradually drew away and had a length to the good at the finish. Pennsylvania finished three lengths behind Harvard. The time: Princeton, 20 minutes 18 seconds; Harvard, 10 minutes 22 seconds; Pennsylvania, 10 minutes 34 seconds.

It takes a man who doesn't have to live the simple life to see the beauties of it.

AMATEUR CONTEST FOR FRIDAY NIGHT

The "Frolics of 1912" company with Rube Welch and Kitty Francis, will put on the first act of their musical show, "Behind the Scenes" on Friday night. Manager Koppellberger of the Majestic has arranged a number of amateur acts, which will comprise an amateur contest. This week will close musical comedy and vaudeville at the Majestic. During the summer moving pictures will be shown. A new variety of colored life pictures, called Kinemacolor, have been procured.

MIDDLES MEET TONIGHT

BOSTON, Mass., May 13.—Both Gus Christy of Milwaukee and Mike Gibbons of St. Paul today said they were in top form for their twelve round bout at the Arena tonight. They will meet at 150 pounds.

Watching The Scoreboard

It may be a sign of something when Detroit and the Yankees win games on the same day.

Nothing has happened to Boston but the Jinx struck Cleveland. Birmingham and Lajoie are out of the game.

The terrible clatter coming out of Philadelphia is caused by the Pirates slipping further down the ladder. Maranville tripled with two on and pulled a fancy bit of fielding which enabled Boston to defeat St. Louis and move into sixth place when the Pirates lost to the Phillies.

The Giants drove Ritchie to the bench. The umpire sent Evers to the same place and with Matty pitching one of his air-tight games the decision was against the Cubs.

It was a hard pull for Nap Rucker won another. Indian Johnson was on the mound for the Reds. Besides pitching a four-hit game Groom got a triple and a double in his four times at bat against the St. Louis Browns.
